

7 Signs

You need construction management software

1

Moving papers is a bottleneck for your projects

You have limited visibility of what the project team is doing

2

3

You miss deadlines and make your customers unhappy

You lose important communications with clients

4

5

You can not find project information when you need it

You have issues with the quality of your construction work

6

7

Computer failures, software installations and upgrades impact your projects

